Data Privacy and Security

Xena Emergency Map is committed to protecting the privacy and security of all user data. We adhere to strict data protection principles and comply with applicable data protection laws and regulations, including but not limited to GDPR.

Data Collection and Use

- Victim Data: We collect limited personal information from victims necessary for emergency response, such as location, nature of the emergency, and contact details. This data is used solely for emergency response purposes and is deleted after the incident is resolved
- Security Officer Data: We collect information about security officers for authentication and authorization purposes. This data is securely stored and access is restricted to authorized personnel.

Data Security

- Encryption: Sensitive data, including personal information, is encrypted both at rest and in transit using industry-standard encryption protocols (e.g., AES-256).
- Access Controls: Access to user data is restricted to authorized personnel on a need-to-know basis. We implement robust access controls and monitoring to prevent unauthorized access.
- Data Integrity: We maintain the integrity and accuracy of user data through regular data validation and backup procedures.
- Incident Response: We have established procedures to handle data breaches and security incidents, including notification of affected individuals as required by law.

Data Sharing

We do not share personal information with third parties without explicit consent, except as required by law or for the purpose of providing emergency services.

Data Retention

We retain personal data only for as long as necessary to fulfill the purposes for which it was collected or as required bylaw.

Individual Rights

Individuals have the right to access, rectify, or erase their personal data. They also have the right to object to or restrict the processing of their data. To exercise these rights, please contact us at info@xena-vision.com

By using Xena Emergency Map, you consent to the collection, use, and disclosure of your personal information as described in this privacy policy.
